ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR THE YEAR 1913-1914.

NEW COURSES

NEW REQUIRED COURSE FOR FRESHMEN

In point of interest to the incoming students, the new course taught by the president is perhaps of the greatest importance. For years the faculty have felt that the students were not getting out of their college course that which they ought to receive, because it took them so long to adjust themselves to college life and learn to take advantage of the opportunities offered. This course is designed to introduce the various features of college life in such a way as to make the whole aim and purpose of college more intelligible and valuable. The course has been named "APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY" and will be given in lectures on Tuesdays and Thursdays at ten o'clock, and will be required of all freshmen.

The Olivet College Bulletin is issued eight times a year; in July, August, October, November, January, February, April and May. Entered July 22d, 1904, at Olivet, Mich., as second class matter under Act of Congress of July 16th, 1894.

OLIVET, MICHIGAN.

NEW FEATURE IN THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

The problem of Freshman English has been one of the greatest pedagogical importance in all colleges for many years. A recent article by Mr. Bok in the Outlook should be read by all active and prospective college students. Mr. Bok's conclusion is that a knowledge of one's own language is the basis of all education, and that college men and women do not use as good English as they should. It was decided last spring by the English Department at Olivet to introduce a change in the teaching of English to meet exactly that deficiency. It has been decided, therefore, to continue the three-hour course in rhetoric through the whole freshman year, giving more drill in the correct use of everyday English and gradually introducing in the second semester something of the literature which is taught in the advanced college courses, thus giving the student in the freshman year a better conception of the value and importance of the entire English Department in college. This work will be taught by Dr. Tucker, Assistant Professor of English. Expression will be given during the second semester two hours a week, thus requiring five hours' work in English of freshmen in the second semester.

TEACHERS' COURSE IN ENGLISH

Last year for the first time the English Department offered a Teachers' Course. This class, open to juniors and seniors, was elected by practically every senior expecting to teach English, and proved to be one of the most popular courses ever given by the Department. It will be offered again this year.

NEW COURSES IN BIBLE AND RELIGIONS

The trustees of Olivet College have been looking for years for a man to teach Biblical Literature and Religion and organize the religious activity of the college, and finally Dr. Day has been employed to teach the Bible and a course in Comparative Religion in Olivet College. The President and Dean of Union Seminary, New York, while discussing the situation at Olivet, said that Dr. Day of California was the best man in the country for just such a position. Dr. Day will bring to Olivet College the spirit of the Christian gentleman, who is religious by nature and a trained and mature scholar in Biblical and religious literatures. He will devote his time to the religious needs of the college. He will be found frank, sincere, and scholarly, and a man whose acquaintance and cultivation will be well worth while. He will teach a two-hour course in the Old Testament in the first semester, and a two-hour course in the New Testament in the second semester. In the first semester he will also offer a three-hour course in Comparative Religion, and in the second semester a three-hour elective course in Biblical Literature. There will be required of all students during their college course, and preferably during the freshman or sophomore years, four semester hours of work in the Bible.

A COURSE IN COMPARATIVE RELIGION

The course in Comparative Religion may not be elected as a part of the required work in the Bible, but it is hoped that every student in college will so arrange his or her courses as to be able to take this course in the great religions of the world. One of the greatest dangers of our American civilization is bigotry. As compared with other nations we are so young, so prosperous, and so rapid in all of our activities that we are inclined to look with disrespect upon the religious, educational, social and industrial activities of other peoples. The average graduate of the American college has the mistaken notion that the Christian religion is the only religion of any importance, while the others are all "heathen" religions. Open-mindedness, broad sympathy, and willingness to recognize truth and goodness wherever it is found should be the dominant characteristic of the educated man. In order to give this point of view to the graduates of the college, this course in Comparative Religion is being offered. The course will be open to juniors and seniors, but it is recommended as a senior course. It will be given at eight o'clock in the morning three times a week.

COURSES IN APPLIED ECONOMICS

Mr. Arnos, who has been studying for a year in the University of Chicago for his Doctor's degree, will offer a number of courses in Applied Economics. These will be especially attractive to young men who are looking forward to business careers. Mr. Arnos will teach the course in Elementary Economics and will offer courses in Public Finance, Money and Banking, Advanced Economics, Accounting and Trusts. One of the features of this department is the training of young men in special lines in order that they may enter intelligently upon their life work. Mr. Arnos will have more time than previously to devote to special students.

Many minor changes will be made in the various departments, especially in the interest of advanced students who want special lines of work. The professors stand ready to give courses in their departments as may be desired, providing a sufficient number of students to form a good class elect such courses.

NEW TEACHERS

The remarkable thing about Olivet College is the fact that its teachers remain here year after year on small salaries, when so many invitations are given them to go elsewhere.

Some changes, however, are inevitable in any faculty, and the administration is fortunate in being able to announce the new teachers who will be found on the faculty for the coming year.

DEAN OF WOMEN

Dr. White, who has been such an efficient and valuable leader of women in Olivet College, has gone abroad for a year of travel and study. She will be succeded as Dean of Women at Olivet College by Dr. Emma Curtiss Tucker, who graduated at Mt. Holyoke in 1896, has taught in several schools and colleges, among them Mt. Holyoke and Wilson College, has studied and traveled in Europe, and for the past three years has been doing advanced work in Yale University from which she received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy last June. Miss Tucker represents the best heredity, scholarship, and culture which can be given to women in this country and Europe. She is a teacher of unusual ability and has for years been looking forward to just such a position as the one she will hold in Olivet. The young women will find in her a true friend and a wise leader in all their activities whether intellectual or social. The college is certainly to be congratulated on being able to find such a worthy successor to Dr. White. Miss Tucker will teach the Freshman Rhetoric throughout the year and possibly offer an advanced course in English.

PROFESSOR OF BIBLICAL LITERATURE

Dr. Thomas Franklin Day has been called to the Department of Biblical Literature in Olivet College. Dr. Day is a graduate of Ohio University and also took his Master's degree from the same institution. He graduated from Union Theological Seminary, and later studied in the Universities of Chicago and Berlin. For the past twenty-three years he has been Professor of Biblical Literature in San Francisco Theological Seminary.

NEW TEACHERS IN MUSIC

The musical faculty for the coming year have already been announced in the July Bulletin. Mr. T. Stanley Skinner will be Director of Music and teacher of organ and theory. Students where he has previously taught are very enthusiastic in their praise of his work and his personal relations with them. Miss Edna Estelle Hall, who has just returned from two years' of study in Berlin, together with Miss Eness, who will be back early in October from a course of lessons with Lhevinne in Berlin, will bring to Olivet College next year the very best instruction in Piano.

ASSISTANT IN BIOLOGY

In the place of Mr. Beckwith, Mr. George A. Spotts, formerly Superintendent of Schools at Hope, Indiana, a graduate of the Indiana State Normal School, and graduate student of the Universities of Indiana and Michigan, will assist Dr. Rittenhouse in biology.

FOOTBALL COACH

Mr. O. C. Carpell of Saginaw, Michigan, has been employed to coach the Olivet football squad for the coming season. Mr. Yost and the Athletic Association at Ann Arbor recommend Mr. Carpell very highly. He is a graduate of the East Side High School at Saginaw, and the University in the class of 1912. For two years he played halfback or end on the 'Varsity team. He has been selected from a large number of applicants for the position because of his energy, enthusiasm and remarkable knowledge of the game. He was the only man who was able to reproduce from his notebook every play which Coach Yost had given the 'Varsity team in two years. He is a great believer in absolute training and will insist upon thorough training for every man who represents the college in the coming season. With unusually good material, the other colleges in the state may expect a fast and clean game from Olivet College this fall.

IMPROVEMENTS ABOUT THE COLLEGE

As this bulletin is being written, the new hardwood floors in Shipherd Hall are being finished, the wiring has been completed for electric lights in every room in Shipherd Hall, and the electric light generator is being installed. It is expected that light from our own plant will be ready at the opening of the college term. Shipherd Hall this coming year, with its excellent bathing and toilet facilities, hardwood floors, electric lights, steam heat, and well-equipped infirmary, will be just as modern and comfortable as it is possible to make a building of that style of architecture. No extra charge will be made for lighting the rooms.

Everything possible has been done for the health and convenience of the students and the college will offer to the students of 1913-1914 the best it has ever given. Olivet asks the co-operation of all its friends in making its future increasingly greater and better.
